'Come On Down' - Via Elm Square

An addition to the Standard International building in Elm Square is planned to accommodate expansion of the Northeast Airlines operations.

John Davidson and Phideas G. Dantos, owners of the building, are receiving bids today on the construction of the 4,000 square foot addition which will permit expansion of Northeast's computer room.

The addition which will extend into the parking lot on the High St. side of the building will cost in excess of $50,000, the head of Danton Realty Trust said Wednesday.

The added space is necessary to house new computers being introduced to accommodate Northeast's reservation system. Once in operation, all reservations will be handled by the computers in Elm Square, thus people in various sections of the country can be assured of seating and the airline will know immediately the number of spaces available on all flights.

Davidson said that the addition assures a longer commitment to Andover by Northeast and also will provide employment for an additional 30 to 40 people.

Davidson and Dantos constructed the building in recent years and it is now fully occupied by Standard International Co. and Northeast. The latter firm moved its computer operation to Andover within the past year.

GOSH, GRAMPA, BACK TO SCHOOL? That seems to be the feeling of these three youngsters, grandchildren of Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson, as they look over some of the books they will be encountering starting next Thursday. Left to right are Edward, Eric and Carlene Ellen Darby. Edward will enter the third grade this year, Eric the second and Carlene Ellen will begin her education attending a nursery school.

It's Back To School On Thursday

The Andover public schools will reopen for the year Thursday, Sept. 5. Teacher workshops will be held Tuesday and Wednesday. There is question concerning the West Junior High opening.

The hours of school, including double sessions for the South and Bancroft school, will be as follows: The high and junior high school hours will remain the same as last year - sessions to begin at 7:55 a.m. and end at 2:15 p.m. daily.

South school pupils will attend from 8:15 a.m. until 12:15 p.m. The Bancroft school population will occupy the South school from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. The entire Bancroft school student body will be transported by school buses.

Those fifth and sixth grade pupils from West Andover who are being transferred to the West Junior High school will follow the hours of that school; namely, 7:55 a.m. to

For Abbot: A Challenging Future

(A TOWNSMAN Newsfeature)

A man interested in equality for women is ready to greet 275 ladies at Abbot Academy shortly.

Donald A. Gordon, the school's first male principal, is on the job and ready for his first opening of the private girl's school on Sept. 17.

Mr. Gordon, 34, is now a resident of Andover, having taken up residence at 34 School St., next to the academy. He resumed work in his office this week and looks forward with anticipation to his initial year here - one which may effect the future of not only Abbot but Phillips Academy as well.

Having been in the educational field since 1957, Mr. Gordon has taught and directed both co-educational as well as all-girls schools.

While there is nothing definitive, studies have been made and will continue concerning the future of Abbot, Phillips and the combination of the two schools, according to the new principal.

He anticipates no changes at the academy in his initial year. It will be a time for "first impressions and an examination of them," he says. He feels it will take a year to develop a professional relationship with the school and its operations.

The administrator notes that there has been a change in education for women in the post World War II years. More attention has been given to their education.

"There has been a revival since World War II in feminism," Gordon says noting that more women are receiving professional degrees and finding careers where they are equal to men.

"What do you do to educate these women? We must provide them with the proper education, equal to that which we provide for men. We must be able to provide the opportunities for a girl who is interested in physics, for instance, and at the same time prepare her so her husband will not feel inferior," the educator contends.

"More women are working now, according to all statistics. Management of the home is not as difficult as it once was and there is more time for women to find jobs. Some will return to work after their families have grown up," Gordon points out.

He is very interested in educating men and women together in a single classroom, feeling it to be beneficial.

He has taught in co-educational schools and for the past three years in an all-girls school in Kansas City, Mo., so his new post is not entirely a different experience.

Hopefully Jr. High Will Open

Andover East Junior High school will open on schedule, hopefully, next Thursday.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson reports that while the school will not be ready as it has been in the past due to the repair work being carried out there, current plans call for students to report on schedule.

Erickson said, following a conference early this week, that workmen feel that the major part of the repair operations should be completed by the end of the week and before next Thursday.

The superintendent said that while the school department reserves the right to change its opinion, it now appears there will be no delay in the opening.

One of the items which held up the final decision was the placing of the carpeting. A restraining order brought by Elliott's, Inc., contending that Town Manager Richard J. Bowen had acted illegally in awarding the carpeting contract to C.B. Swift, Inc. of Boston, delayed the placing of the carpeting.

A Suffolk Superior Court decision late last week upheld the manager in giving the contract to the second lowest bidder.

At the Monday night meeting of the selectmen, the board received a letter from Elliott's, commenting on the award. Bowen told the board he felt no further action was necessary, since a court finding had ruled his action legal.

The carpeting work was to begin at the school Wednesday.

Tile work at the school is due to be completed this week, according to information given Supt. Erickson.

Repairing and renovating the building has been a major summer project. Electrical work, roofing and flooring have been repaired along with some plumbing, painting and general maintenance projects. The renovations were approved under a $500,000 appropriation at the March town meeting.

Early Deadline For Next Issue

The Andover TOWNSMAN will close its offices Monday, Sept. 2, Labor Day.

Because the paper will appear as usual on Thursday, persons interested in submitting copy for the Sept. 5 issue should have it in the office no later than 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 30.

Registrar Urges Caution As Schools Resume

Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin today called for maximum caution by Bay State motorists to avoid injury and death to the more than 1,000,000 school children who will be returning to Massachusetts schools next week.

The Registrar said: "The school schedule always seems to result in sharp increases of child injuries and fatalities on our highways. There is always an upsurge in June when school ends. There is always another increase in September when the schools resume their normal schedule.

"The answer seems to be that many motorists are unprepared for an abrupt change in the pedestrian pattern of the children. They forget to drive with extra caution in the areas and at the times that children are going to or coming from school," said the Registrar.

Directing his remarks to drivers, he stressed strict observance of school zone signs and speed limits, and cautioned them to stop for school buses with flashing lights or when signalled to stop by the school bus operator. He pointed out that many drivers are unaware they are required to stop for pedestrians crossing the street in their travel lane within marked crosswalks or if another vehicle has stopped to let them pass. If the pedestrian is in the opposite travel lane, drivers must stop when the pedestrian is within five feet of their side of the road. McLaughlin said that severe penalties are provided for violations of all these laws.

The Registrar also suggested that parents set up a "walking pool" with each taking a turn in supervising young children on their way to and from school. In this way, busy mothers could feel easier about the safety of their children. "Don't bring them up to let them be run down," was his final plea.

Top Horse Show Winner

Miss Debra-Sue Giles received several outstanding awards for her riding ability at a Class A. American Horse Show held earlier this month at Gorham, Maine.

The 13-year-old girl placed first in the equitation division for her age group out of 27 competitors. She was also Reserve Champion of the show in the Equitation Championship for riders 18 years and under.

In addition, she won the American Horse Show Association Medal Class qualifying her for the final ride-off at Kansas City, Mo. in the fall. These awards were won while astride her new American Saddlebred horse, Gallant Man. She rode her three-gaited hackney saddle pony, Bobby's Girl, to win the Grand Champion Saddle Pony of the show. Earlier, she had placed first in the qualifying class for this event.

Debra-Sue is a ninth grade student at Andover East Junior high.

Following in her sister's footsteps, nine-year-old Janice-Elaine, riding her pet pony, Frisky-G was awarded the Robert Cady Memorial Trophy at the Lisbon, N.H. show, for winning first place in the pet pony under saddle division. She also has won first place in the Children's Walk-Trot class seven times at various shows.

Janice-Elaine is a fifth grade student at Central Elementary school. Both are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lincoln Giles, One Old South Ln.

Bible School Program Concludes

The closing session of the annual Daily Vacation Bible school of the Andover Bible Chapel will be held tonight at the chapel, 266 Lowell St., at 7:30 p.m.

Parents and friends of participating children have been invited to attend brief closing ceremonies as the children demonstrate the various skills learned during the two week session. The program will include the singing of choruses, demonstration of bible Memory work and display of the crafts done by the several classes.

This year's school, directed by Mrs. Richard Truax, has achieved new records of attendance as average daily attendance during the first week stood at 209 plus, some unregistered visitors. Mrs. Truax states that she was especially pleased that so many of the children had attended all the sessions. Perfect attendance has been the rule rather than the exception she noted. The highest daily attendance last week was 220 children and over 200 each day since.

Boys and girls attending the sessions are being invited to continue the good times linked with growth in Christian subjects by joining AWANA Clubs sponsored by the chapel. Children in the 8 to 14 year old group may participate in the clubs which feature a balance of sports and Bible memory work.

Basford Resumes Teaching In Rome

Emosy S. Basford, 31 Holt Rd., left Tuesday for New York, to sail Friday on the Italian liner "Michael Angelo" for Rome, Italy, where he will resume his work as teacher of English in St. Stephen's school, in Rome, from which he has been on leave of absence during this last school year.

Mr. Basford has been on the faculty of St. Stephens since he retired from Phillips Academy in 1964. St. Stephens is a recently established school for foreign students preparing for admission to American colleges.

New School Health Regulations

A new health requirement was signed into law by Governor Volpe on Sep. 5, 1967. This regulation states that "no child shall, except as here-in-after provided, be admitted to school except upon presentation of a physician's certificate that the child has been successfully vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, measles and poliomyelitis and such other communicable diseases as may be specified from time to time by the department of public health."

Parents should make sure that children entering school have been immunized against the six communicable diseases named above. There will be a small group of children exempted from the law because of medical and religious reasons. "In case of the former, a statement from the family physician is required indicating the reasons why one or more of the immunizations should not be given. In the case of a religious exemption a Certificate must be completed by an official of the church or religious denomination."

This law applies to children of all ages attending school from kindergarten through eighth grade.

For further information contact Mrs. Elizabeth Nadeau, Board of Health office.

Man-catching or man-keeping is very serious business. Both are equally difficult, but a good figure lets you get ahead of the game. Why? Because most men don't notice "little things" about you - alluring eyes, transparent lipstick or pink highlighter. No. The one thing he does notice - and carefully - is your figure! That doesn't simply mean just your measurements. It means how you carry yourself, your posture, your gracefulness. And most definitely, it shows him what you think of yourself. A woman who has pride in herself carries herself proudly. She'd never let her natural figure-shaping muscles get loose and flabby. Sure, all of us slip a little every now and then. But we're always on guard! If you don't keep your figure nice for that certain man, there are other women who will! Don't let your hair look dull & listless. ## Bowen Gives Safety Center Plans Go Ahead Signal

Planning of the new public safety center will move ahead, according to a letter sent Wednesday to Building Committee Chairman Ernest N. Hall by Town Manager Richard J. Bowen.

Bowen said that he had met with the chiefs and with the architect regarding the preliminary plans and would like a joint meeting with the building committee as soon as possible.

He said he felt the plans show an adequate total amount of space.

As for the exterior design he said he would insist that it be "As simple, as clean and as honest as is possible." His comment was in reference to the committee's insistence that the design be colonial.

In his comments Bowen said, regarding the design:

"Without intending any reflection at all upon its neighbor, it should under no circumstances seek to resemble an ice cream parlor. It should have a character all its own and at the same time be as traditional as can be realized. There are no public safety centers to be copied, and this building therefore cannot be a reproduction."

Further, he said: "I should like to address myself to what I consider to be the problems inherent in the planning of this facility. It is emphatically clear to me, and I believe to the committee, that it is not possible to provide all of those items on which there can be agreement as being essential parts of the facility. With this very obvious fact in my mind, I believe that it would be pure folly to continue planning on including things in the building that just won't be done because of budget limitations. I take note of the fact that the architect is consistently optimistic about his being able to produce a facility for something approximating $22,000 a square foot - total project cost. His optimism is not supported by what is happening in the construction of public buildings both in the Greater Lawrence area and the Boston Metropolitan area or for that matter, in the entire eastern part of Massachusetts. Since space appears to be an important, if not the most important, requirement of the center, it is obvious to me that something else must give. It is also clear to me that there should be no or very few compromises in terms of the quality of the contents of the building. Such compromises in the name of economy cannot help but result in inadequacies built into the building which must be lived with for time immemorial by the Police, Fire, and Civil Defense Agencies. "Therefore, the following items shall be omitted or modified at this time;

Most spaces in the building shall be provided with the capacity for climate control. The actual installation of the air-conditioning equipment will not be made at this time. It is to be carried as an alternate. A completed pistol range will be omitted.

The Central Station fire alarm console, the so-called Gamewell console and system is to be omitted. This is an expense which should not be charged against this building. It is work that should be done regardless of whether or not a new building is constructed.

The committee will not concern itself at this time with the providing of furnishings and equipment with the exception of that which is affixed to the building, for example - lockers.

*All interior finishes, including the floor of the fire apparatus room, will be of such quality so as to reduce maintenance to an absolute minimum. Exterior windows, for example, should not be wood.

*Site work should be held to that which is absolutely required for the operation and maintenance of the center. This is especially important in terms of providing parking space for personnel of the Police and Fire Departments.

"The above items are not nec-

One of the reasons he came to Abbot was because of the possibilities of expansion. As for that expansion and the possible working with Phillips, he feels that it is too soon to judge which direction it will take.

As for the future, it appears it will be an exciting one as the youthful administrator takes the reins of one of the nation's oldest private girls' schools.

Not unfamiliar with Andover, he is a graduate of Phillips Academy, but since his appointment here is finding Andover an even more pleasant place to live, being able to view the community more than when he was a student.

ported. Students are requested to be ready a few minutes early at the bus stops until time schedules have been established.

Schools will resume on a full session basis beginning with the first day. Cafeterias will serve lunches and milk will be available at recess for all elementary pupils who desire it.

New students may be registered on the first day of school. Principals are available, however, at appointed hours from now until the beginning of school.

All In Readiness For Topsfield Fair

All the pieces are falling into place for Topsfield Fair's gala 150th anniversary starting Saturday, Aug. 31, and continuing through Saturday, Sept. 7.

The only major matter still in doubt is whether Vice President Hubert Humphrey will attend the Governor's luncheon on Wednesday, September 4, when formal anniversary exercises will be held. On the strength of a letter from Mr. Humphrey stating he would try to include the event in his busy Labor Day week schedule, Fair President John J. Hurley said he does not expect a final answer until after the Democratic Convention.

A unique historical exhibit with life-size mannequins in period costume will recall the sponsoring Essex Agricultural Society's first fair on Salem Common in 1818. Principal figures in the display, designed by Mrs. Charles R. Mann, will be Col. Timothy Pickering, Salem's Revolutionary War hero and Secretary of State in George Washington's cabinet, and the colonel's wife, Pickering, a founder and first president of the Agricultural Society, will be portrayed winning the plowing contest at the inaugural fair while Mrs.

Pickering watches. The scene will be a feature of the Fair's annual fall flower show.

The crowded eight-day program of America's oldest county fair will include sportsman's, home arts, Grange, fruit, vegetable, and poultry shows; horse, oxen and pony pulling contests; a million-dollar livestock show; pari-mutuel greyhound racing; Miss Essex County Pageant; water thrill show at the grandstand; "New England Alive" wild animal and bird exhibit, and a Greater Lynn industrial and civic exhibit.

Opening day, August 31, is billed as a special preview and homecoming day for former residents of Topsfield and neighboring towns.

essarily intended to be all inclusive and to the exclusion of other items. They do represent, however, those aspects of the project which I believe can be set aside for the moment and at the same time afford the committee and the architect sufficient room within which to work in order to produce facilities that we need and that will stand the test of time. "I believe it of the utmost importance that the architect confer at length with the Police and Fire Chiefs and the Civil Defense Director as well as with my office as the work progresses. The degree of success of this project will be directly proportionate to the extent to which this requirement is met. The committee should under no circumstances be side-tracked from the important task ahead of it by any outside pressure which may be exerted. Neither should it be carried away by optimism and expectations that do not measure up to what is actually happening in the construction industry. The committee should also take whatever time it feels that it needs in order to reach its goal as deliberately as possible. Time is of the essence, but the shortage of time will not be accepted as an excuse for inadequate planning."

Commissioner Candidate

County Commissioner Daniel J. Burke of Lynnfield has announced his candidacy for re-election to the office.

Burke, a Democrat, is chairman of the county governing board. He has been a resident of Lynnfield for over 20 years and at 29 is the youngest elected county official in Massachusetts. Commissioner Burke is also the youngest county chairman in the history of the state.

The Commissioner was educated at St. John's Prep, Danvers; University of Notre Dame, Indiana; and Boston University Law school.

Burke, graduated number one in his class, was a member of the student council and College Young Democrats during his educational process.

In the area of public service Commissioner Burke is a member of the Executive Committee of the St. John's Prep Alumni Board and an area Fund Drive Co-ordinator for Boston University.

He was the Essex County Chairman of the Dimes Fund Drive in 1967 and the County Employees' Chairman of the United Fund Drive in 1968.

Weather Info For Boatmen

With the many sources of weather information now available to boatmen, very few boating accidents should be caused by hazardous weather conditions.

Thomas J. Legere, State Director of Motorboats cautions boat operators to begin their weather sense before leaving the dock.

A quick call to the weather bureau marine forecast should be a routine procedure, local radio and television stations are constantly broadcasting information. While on the coastal waters the Coast Guard announces weather warnings on 2670 KHz. on the marine radio.

Small portable weather receivers are now available in VHF and standard broadcast bands. Attached is a switch for instant weather information 24 hours a day, which are inexpensive enough for every boater.

Perhaps this is the answer to the old adage, "If you don't like New England weather?" wait a minute," Legere further advised, "To be boat wise you should be weather wise."

The Erie Canal, opened on Oct. 26, 1825, from Albany to Buffalo, was only four feet deep and 40 feet wide.

Labor Day

The summer season is just about at an end.

This week end will be the final one of the so-called official vacation season.

The Labor day week end characteristically signals the end of vacation time and the back to business routine.

It is also the marking of a salute to the American laborer who has toiled in diversified vineyards throughout the year. This is his day of honor.

Labor has come a long way since the day when Labor day became a holiday or even an observance.

Instituted by the Knights of Labor, a dominant labor movement group in 1877, Labor day was marked by a parade in New York City. Oregon first recognized the labor movement by declaring an annual holiday in February in 1887. Massachusetts was the fifth state in the union to so recognize labor by declaring a holiday on the first Monday in September.

Much has been accomplished in the years since 1877. The labor movement has progressed and enabled workers to enjoy benefits which may not have otherwise been gained.

This year, as Labor Day is observed, one can view with some degree of satisfaction, what the workers of this nation have accomplished.

From that early, founding observance, this nation has risen to be the greatest in the world in the manufacture of diverse items.

In 1887, workers were probably concerned mostly with carpentry, textiles and only a few allied trades.

Today, the nation's millions of workmen are putting men in outer space. Space age technology has opened up an entire new world and thousands of new jobs.

As the American workman rests this long week end, he can take heart in knowing that his efforts have contributed to making America great, and keeping it that way.

As we salute Labor this week end, may we also express the hope it will be a safe holiday.

Soccer

Some time ago, the school committee took under consideration the institution of soccer on an interscholastic level. At the time of its proposal, the committee felt that until such time as facilities are available, the matter should be tabled.

Now is the time to take it off the table, since the fields at the new senior high school are available and adaptable to use for soccer play.

Soccer is becoming an increasingly popular sport. It affords participation by many who otherwise would be unable to join in interscholastic athletic activity.

It has become a professional sport in this country with Boston having an entry in the national league.

It is an enduring sport, but one which is rewarding in the physical fitness of youth.

If the high school is to initiate a team for interscholastic competition, it is time now to begin planning since finances will be needed in the year ahead. It should not be an expensive undertaking, since equipping of a team would be quite minimum.

Instituting of the sport at this level would bring back the days of old Andover when soccer was one of the major athletic events of the community.

The name of Andover was widespread several years ago, when soccer teams from near and far competed against local clubs at the old Cricket field and also on the grounds in front of the American Woolen Administration building, now Sacred Heart school.

If the sport is to be instituted, then it is time for the school committee to begin thinking about providing the necessary funds.

There is sufficient interest. Boys at the junior and senior high schools have been competing on an intramural basis for the past few years.

Scheduling of games, ordering of equipment, etc., must precede the formation of a team. Now is the time to have some serious thinking on the subject. Facilities are now available - soccer fans await some definite action by the school committee.

Memorial Hall Library

The Memorial Hall Library has recently acquired "The Value Line Investment Survey." This service, provided by the Arnold Bernhard Company, is one of the most popular reference sources on stocks available today. The Value Line, as it is popularly known, has been developed over 35 years to show investors and businessmen current evaluations of common stocks. The survey covers 1400 stocks in 70 different industries. Included in the service are a 15 year statistical background study of each stock, current evaluation and systematic updating of stock data and a weekly evaluation of each stock at its latest price in relation to all 1400 stocks included in the survey. The Value Line comes in two handy green binders and must be used at the library. Inquiries can be made at the reference desk.

Archery, a sport with a long, interesting history including the feats of Robin Hood, is becoming increasingly popular in the United States.

And judging from interest in archery books at the Memorial Hall Library, the sport must be gaining more converts in this area, according to librarian Mrs. Constance Smyth.

Manuals covering all aspects of the sport, the librarian said, are available at the library. With hunting season not far off, now is a good time to pick up some tips on this popular sport.

An excellent recent guide is Robert Gannon's "The Complete Book of Archery." Useful to both the novice and the experienced archer, the comprehensive handbook covers every aspect of the sport - from how to choose the right bow and arrow to hunting and fishing with the bow.

Other books about archery include "Guide to Better Archery" by Thomas Forbes; "Field Archery and Bow Hunting," by Arnold Haugen; "Bucks and Bows," by Walter Perry; "The Complete Archery Book," by Louis Hochman; "The Essentials of Archery," by L.E. Stemmler; "Field and Target Archery," by Edmund Burke; "Pocket and Field Guide to Archery," by Howard Sigler; "Bowhunting for Deer," by Homer Wambold; "The Archer's Craft," by Adrian Eliot Hodgkin, and "Archery Handbook," by Edmund Burke.

G. Howard Gillelan's "Modern ABC's of Bow and Arrow," and R.P. Elmer's "Archery" are for the younger archery enthusiasts.

The history of archery from the Stone Age to the present is covered in "The History of Archery" by Edmund Burke. Exciting tales of adventure with bow and arrow in North America and Africa can be found in "Wild Adventure" by Howard Hill.

Holiday Safety Measures

In an effort to help lower the number of deaths from motoring accidents over the Labor Day weekend - 810 last year - the American Red Cross today issued a list of safety precautions and some first aid measures for drivers.

"Those 810 traffic fatalities during the 1967 Labor Day weekend were 40 short of the all-time high in the same weekend of 1966," said John T. Goetz, area director of Safety Programs for the Red Cross Eastern Area. "But any life lost is one too many. Safe and sensible driving by everyone on the highways next Saturday through Monday will help them come home alive."

He listed these measures to take for road safety:

"First, before you start on a trip, make sure your car is safe - that its brakes, lights, signal devices, windshield wipers, exhaust system, and steering mechanism - are working properly. Check to make sure all tires, including the spare are in good condition.

"Second, keep the space in front of the rear window clear, so that the driver has full vision from the rear and sides as well as forward. Pack the car's interior to prevent objects from becoming dangerous projectiles in case of a sudden stop or a collision.

"Third, carry along a good first aid kit and some flares, flashing signals, or other warning devices.

"Fourth, use your safety belts at all times.

"Fifth, take a break from the road every two hours or so, in order to keep alert.

"Sixth, make allowances for the unpredictable acts of other drivers. Drive defensively.

"Seventh, check tires for cuts and other damage after traveling over bumpy, rocky roads before returning to turnpike speeds.

"Eighth, be careful when you use power windows - children can be hurt by them.

"Ninth, don't drink before driving; don't drive after drinking.

"Last but not least, observe speed limits as posted and heed signs and highway markings. When the weather is bad, adjust to a slower and safer speed. Stay on your (right) side of a double line on the highway. Crossing it to pass another car is both dangerous and illegal."

"The Red Cross recommends that every driver be first-aid-trained," Mr. Goetz said. "This will make him more conscious of accident causes, more cautious, and will enable him to care for someone who may be injured."

Waterfowl
Season
Options

Frameworks within which Massachusetts may set its 1968 waterfowl seasons have been announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Between the outside dates of Oct. 5 through Jan. 15, inclusive, Massachusetts will have a choice of a 50-day consecutive season or a split season totalling 45 days with a daily bag limit of three ducks and a possession limit of six ducks. Or, they may elect a season of 40 consecutive days or 36 in a split season with a daily bag limit of four ducks, a possession limit of eight.

In any case, limits may not include more than: two black ducks per day, and four in possession; two mallards per day and four in possession; two wood ducks per day and four in possession; and one canvasback or redhead duck per day, and one of either species in possession.

Hunters may be allowed to take 10 coots per day and have 20 in possession, and may take five mergansers per day and have 10 in possession, provided that not more than one hooded merganser be taken per day, nor more than two be in possession.

For geese, Massachusetts may elect a 70 day season, split or straight, between the outside dates of October 5 and January 26, with a daily bag of two and a possession limit of four. There is no penalty for a split season with geese. During the same seasons, hunters may be allowed to take six brant per day, with a possession limit of six.

There will be no opportunity for a special black duck season this year, nor will there be an allowance for bonus scaup ducks in the daily bag or possession limits during the regular season.

There will be an opportunity to have a special season for scaup ducks. It must be of 16 consecutive day's duration, outside the regular season for other ducks and between the outside dates of Oct. 1 and Jan. 31, inclusive. The daily bag limit may be five scaup, the possession limit ten scaup. Such a scaup season may be in effect only in an area clearly delineated and defined in state regulations, and must be mutually agreed upon by the state and the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. Any overlapping of either the sea-duck season or the goose season will not affect this special scaup season.

Kiesel - Lake

At a pretty mid-summer candlelight wedding July 27, Miss Pamela Anne Lake was married to Mr. Rodney Ferd Kiesel, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ferd J. Kiesel of Carmichael, Calif. Miss Lake is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tucker Lake of Andover. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Edison Pike in Christ Episcopal church. A reception followed in the parish hall.

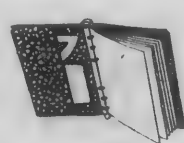

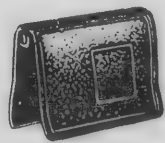

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silk organza appliqued with Chantilly lace roses and her train held by a peau half-belt and bow. Her illusion veil fell from a Chantilly lace headpiece and her bouquet was of Eucharist lilies and stephanotis.

Miss Kathryn Beck of East Quogue, Long Island, N.Y., was maid of honor and wore a gown of sherbet pink with a panel train and carried an old fashioned bouquet of roses, daisies and bachelor buttons. Dressed identically, Miss Jan Kiesel of Carmichael, Calif. sister of the bridegroom was bridesmaid.

Dr. Kiesel served his son as best man. The ushers were the bride's brother, H. Tucker Lake, Jr. of Andover, and Edgar Buck, Jr. of Columbus, Ohio.

The bride was graduated from Principia College, Elmhurst, Ill. in 1965 and will receive her Master's Degree from Ohio State University Aug. 30. The bridegroom also graduated from Principia College and is a doctoral candidate at Ohio State University.

After a brief wedding trip the couple is at home in Columbus, Ohio.

Op Art, Science Mix In Museum Exhibit

Op art and science - worlds apart? Not really. Take a look at Moire Patterns, the latest exhibit at Boston's Museum of Science.

Moire patterns, the exciting, dynamic designs so often seen in psychedelic and optical art these days, appear when one family of curves or lines is superimposed another family. The result is a new family, a moire pattern.

The moire concept may sound confusing at first, but these patterns are all around us. You've probably seen them yourself produced by overlapping folds in a nylon curtain or by looking through one window screen at another. The term moire, incidentally, is French for "watered" and was first used to describe a silk fabric with a wavy pattern.

When two families, or repeating designs, are combined, parts of each are blanked out, producing the moire. The pattern obtained from the combination of two repeating designs is regular and predictable; thus, any distortion or irregularity indicates a flaw in one of the basic designs.

This principle, the moire method of determining regularity, has been applied in many phases of science as well as in some of the arts. It turns up in such areas as the study of crystalline structure and the testing of optical lenses.

The new exhibit at the Museum of Science features examples of basic moire patterns, and movable designs and transparencies that visitors can manipulate to make do-it-yourself moire patterns.

Moire Patterns: Op Art in Science can be seen in the Museum's third floor Lyman Library, Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Friday night until 10; and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

 Albrite Carpet Cleaning Company, located on Route 114, off 495 in Lawrence, is the only carpet cleaning plant with a complete setup of its kind for rug cleaning this side of Boston. It is the only one in the Merrimack Valley which belongs to the National Institute of Rug Cleaners. Recently, Albrite won national acclaim from the institute for having the cleanest rug cleaning plant of all its members.
This includes companies all over the United States and South America.

 When your soiled rugs are brought in to Albrite, they are checked for condition and measured. Then they are vacuumed and put in the beating machine to remove loose dirt; the average 9 x 12 rug yields 10 lbs. of dirt.

Then they are scrubbed with a rotary scrubber as shown above, hand spotted, put in the automatic rug washer under pressure, rinsed and rung out. Next they go up to the drying room at a controlled heat to prevent shrinkage, then immediately to the rollers which roll them up while they are fresh and clean.

 Albrite carries a complete selection of carpeting by all the top names - Alexander Smith, Cabin Craft, Bigelow, Magee, Berwick and Ozite, as well as luxurious Oriental rugs, Scandinavian inspired area rugs and lovely pastel Indian Orientals. It makes good sense to buy your new rugs directly from a dealer who can service them and answer your questions on carpet care with authority.

 Albrite offers free pick-up and delivery service or you can save 20% by taking your rugs in yourself. In addition, Albrite will go to your home for wall-to-wall rug cleaning. Albrite is the only local franchised dealer for Bigelow-Sanford detergent, which will clean, mothproof and deodorize your carpeting, leaving a soil retarding powder in it.

 Albrite also does repairing of holes, binding, fringing, seam-cleaning. Open Tuesday and Friday

electronic systems start here

When you pick up the first two parts and put them together, a system starts to exist. It may be a radar system that will be used to guard our country against attack or a communications system for military and commercial aircraft.

We appreciate your contribution. We pay you well, whether you are experienced or a trainee, career girl or student. You share in our excellent benefit programs. Your wages are reviewed regularly.

All you really need are nimble fingers, good eyesight and a willingness to learn.

The positions are at our Bedford and Woburn installations on the first shift. Hours are 7:30 to 4.

CALL Miss Phyllis Squibb at 275-0200 to learn how easily you can start building electronic systems in Bedford. Or drop in to see her any weekday from 8:30 to 4. You'll find us on Crosby Road at Route 3 and 62.

CALL Mrs. Joanne Arsenault at 935-3400 in Woburn. She is located in the Slumberland Building on Olympia Avenue at Route 128 and Washington Street.
